Most architects prefer wood gutter because unusual harmony and beauty of detail can be achieved. Fine homes look better in durable wood gutter because it invites natural, decorative combinations with standard exterior mouldings and finish. A popular gutter stock like Douglas fir has extra long life.

Farm-fresh to you...

How a remarkable plastic helps bring fresher food to your table

A WONDERFULLY useful plastic called polyethylene* is now giving a new kind of protection to food that is on its way to your kitchen.

WHEN FOOD IS PACKED in thin, strong bags of polyethylene, it is able to "breathe," and yet not dry out. Because polyethylene has this peculiar advantage, apples, carrots, and other fruits and vegetables—as well as poultry and meat products—can reach your table more nearly farm-fresh than ever.

POLYETHYLENE IS ONLY ONE of a number of plastics produced by the people of Union Carbide to help bring foods to you in prime condition. Some of these plastics coat cardboard for milk cartons and frozen food packages, while others line the tins for canned foods and beverages.

SCIENCE "SETS A GOOD TABLE" These and other materials produced by UCC help protect food while growing, in storage, during preparation, when packaged for your use, and when stored in your pantry or refrigerator. This protection helps provide a more healthful diet for all Americans.

In taking over the management of the 50 acre center, Adler brings with him from Chicago, Ill., a background of top level management experience. A graduate of the School of Law at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio, Adler has spent the last ten years as general counsel for the Ames Management Company, Chicago, handling a wide variety of commercial properties.

Active in East
During this same period, he has served as executive director of the Chamber of Commerce of Skokie, Ill., and president of Armetine Manufacturing Co., leading manufacturers of garden equipment.

Teachers of Future Aid

The members of the Future Teachers Club of the Howard Wood School, under the sponsorship of Miss Margaret Lacey, are helping the primary teachers of the school in many ways. In addition, the students receive encouragement to become teachers of the future.

Each member of the club has been assigned to a teacher, and under her supervision, performs such duties as mixing paints; holding drill cards; helping individual children with reading, arithmetic and spelling.

One of the future teachers, Judith Frederickson, has been helping a little boy who recently moved to California from Holland. This boy did not know a word of English when he entered school. He can now read complete books.

The girls are very conscientious and enthusiastic in the performance of their duties. They have given up many hours of their own free time before and after school, and during the lunch hour, in an effort to be of more service to other children.

Robert D. Evans, principal, feels that this program has done much for the girls themselves, as well as for those they have helped.
